CONCERNING MODERNIZING TERMINOLOGY IN THE COLORADO REVISED STATUTES RELATED TO BEHAVIORAL HEALTH.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly finds and declares that:

(a) Behavioral health problems and disorders affect a wide range of Americans and include problems ranging from unhealthy stress or subclinical conditions to diagnosable and treatable disorders, such as serious mental health and substance use disorders. These illnesses and disorders are often chronic in nature, but individuals can, and do, recover from them with the help of a variety of interventions, including medical and psychosocial treatments, self-help, mutual aid, and recovery supports.

(b) The substance abuse and mental health services administration (SAMHSA) offers the national behavioral health quality framework as a guiding document for the identification and implementation of key behavioral health quality measures for use in agency or system funding decisions, monitoring the behavioral health of the nation, and the delivery of behavioral health care;

(c) SAMHSA recognizes the importance of looking beyond national quality strategy endorsement for measures that capture the breadth of behavioral health activities addressed by SAMHSA and the federal department of health and human services, particularly those for which the evidence base is not mature or areas in which data collection is still evolving because the field of behavioral health quality measurement is relatively young in its development; and

(d) SAMHSA, health and human services partners, other federal colleagues, and many private sector behavioral health entities are committed to appropriately describing, measuring, and implementing quality behavioral health care.

(2) Therefore, the general assembly finds it is critical to use appropriate terminology regarding behavioral health, including mental health and substance use disorders, throughout the Colorado Revised Statutes.
