CONCERNING SUPPORT FOR COLORADO'S NATIONAL MONUMENTS.

WHEREAS, The provisions of 54 U.S.C. sections 320301 to 320303, commonly referred to as the "Antiquities Act", authorize the President of the United States to designate as national monuments by public proclamation historic landmarks, historic and prehistoric structures, and other objects of historic or scientific interest that are situated on public land; and

WHEREAS, The Antiquities Act, signed into law in 1906 concurrently with the designation of Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado, has been used judiciously in Colorado to protect cherished heritage and places such as the Great Sand Dunes, Dinosaur National Monument, Colorado National Monument, and Florissant Fossil Beds National Monument; and

WHEREAS, Many national monuments, including the Grand Canyon, the Statue of Liberty, the Birmingham Civil Rights National Monument, and the Stonewall Inn, reflect the rich cultural heritage of tribal communities, minority communities, and communities of color, are some of the most important public lands of the United States, and are critical to telling a more inclusive and complete history of our nation; and

WHEREAS, The designation of national monuments provides additional protections for public lands that are held in trust for all Americans, and the management of national monuments is guided by plans developed in cooperation with state, local, and tribal governments, members of the public, and other stakeholders; and

WHEREAS, The President of the United States, in an Executive Order signed on April 26, 2017, is undertaking a review of all national monuments designated since 1996 that exceed 100,000 acres in size or otherwise may be perceived to have lacked sufficient public input and making recommendations, which includes Colorado's Canyons of the Ancients National Monument, to possibly either diminish in size or revoke protections for these same monuments; now, therefore,
