- Allowing the homeowner to replace the gas-fueled appliance with a similar device of the homeowner's choosing that operates on electricity rather than gas;
- Describing minimum efficiency and performance standards for each gas-fueled appliance and for electric replacements; and
- Allowing the homeowner to receive an equivalent cash value of a gas-fueled appliance in lieu of a replacement appliance.

1     Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado:

2           SECTION 1. Legislative declaration. (1) The general assembly
3     finds and declares that:

4               (a) Reducing greenhouse gas emissions and improving air quality
5     are integral to preserving Colorado's way of life, the health of Colorado
6     communities, and the state's natural environment;

7               (b) Clean and energy-efficient electric appliances can make use
8     of the state's increasing renewable energy resources and reduce the 9     production and use of fossil fuels;

10              (c) Fossil fuel production and use are two of the largest 11     contributors to ozone and poor outdoor air quality in Colorado; and

12              (d) Homes without gas appliances have better indoor air quality,
13     which is particularly important for the health of Colorado's children and 14     seniors.

15              (2) The general assembly also finds and declares that:

16              (a) Home warranty service contracts, also known as home
17     warranties, cover repairs and replacements for expensive home appliances
18     and systems;

19              (b) Home warranties that replace only existing aging appliances

1 on a like-for-like basis can create disincentives for people to purchase
2 cleaner and more energy-efficient appliances; and

3 (c) In keeping with the state's goals concerning greenhouse gas
4 reduction and air quality improvement, companies that offer home
5 warranties to Coloradans should help consumers purchase cleaner and 6 more energy-efficient replacement appliances.

7 (3) Therefore, the general assembly finds and declares that it is in 8 the state's best interest to require home warranties to include terms that 9 allow homeowners to replace fossil-fuel-burning appliances with 10 energy-efficient electric replacements.
