TEXAS A&M FOUNDATION

LEAD BY EXAMPLE • NO FUNDATION
• TEXAS A&M FOUNDATION

The Texas A&M Foundation builds a brighter future for Texas A&M University, one relationship at a time.

Our vision is to be among the most trusted philanthropies in higher education.

Established in 1953, the Texas A&M Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit and the primary academic fundraising institution for Texas A&M University charged with raising and managing gifts of all types and sizes, with a focus on major gift endowments. We invest these gifts and disburse part of the investment earnings for the purposes designated by donors. In this way, endowments remain forever and continually benefit Texas A&M.

Our team partners with former students, corporations and other supporters to match their passions with opportunities for purposeful philanthropy at Texas A&M. Gifts create scholarships, advance faculty endeavors, enhance student programs and fund campus construction, greatly enhancing Texas A&M’s mission to provide the highest quality undergraduate and graduate programs and develop new understandings through research and creativity.

Why does Texas A&M, a state university, need private gifts?

Texas A&M University receives approximately 19% of its total revenue budget from state appropriations, which continue to decrease on a per student basis. With increasing pressure on state budgets, the role of private support is increasingly vital to Aggieland's future.

Decreases in state funding can cause increases in tuition, which in turn places additional financial burdens on students and families. Texas A&M benefits tremendously from philanthropy not only to maintain its affordability, but also to provide the financial means necessary for the university to excel as a world-class institution.

Raising funds for the university through an independent nonprofit foundation has multiple benefits:

We remain flexible in our investments to increase our earnings.

We ensure that funds are used for the purpose designated by donors.

We respect donors' privacy by keeping personal giving and financial records confidential.

CUSTOMIZE YOUR GIFT

You can give to the Foundation via an endowed gift or with pass-through funds. With either method, you can customize your gift to support what you're most passionate about in Aggieland, such as student scholarships, faculty and research, college programs, student activities, Aggie traditions or campus facilities. For example, in creating an endowed scholarship, you may choose to support students from Harris County, Texas, who are studying petroleum engineering. The majority of our donors choose to direct their gifts in a specific way.

For gifts of $25,000 or more, we will draft a gift agreement outlining the purpose, form, schedule and administration of your gift. Once documented, the Foundation and university are obligated to direct those funds as you have specified for the future.

There are a number of available giving methods that may fit your unique financial situation, many of which offer substantial tax benefits (see page 14). In appreciation for your gift, you may also receive an invitation to join our exclusive Legacy and Heritage societies.

EMPOWER AGGIES WITH A SCHOLARSHIP

When you fund a scholarship or fellowship, you make a profound difference in the lives of individual students and in the lives those students touch as graduates of Texas A&M University.

Some of the best high school students can't afford today's tuition, but scholarships open a world of possibilities to them. Scholarships also free Aggies from the necessity of part-time jobs, giving them more time to satisfy their intellectual curiosity or to participate in Texas A&M's character-building organizations.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are crucial to Texas A&M's future because they provide benefits to students for generations. As your gift is invested in the Texas A&M Foundation's portfolio, it produces a consistent stream of annual returns that support the scholarship program you designate. Because we have an annually set payout rate and carefully manage our portfolio through diversification, you can rest assured that a scholarship endowment will always support students whether the market is up or down.

Annual Scholarships

While most donors choose to create an endowed gift that will last forever, you may also choose to fund an annual scholarship by making a pass-through gift.

Scholarship Programs

There are a variety of scholarship programs that allow you to direct your gift in creative ways and form lifetime relationships with student recipients (see next page). Some scholarships are awarded based on academic achievement; others support Aggies from underserved groups or those with financial need. You can also create a college- or department-based scholarship of your own design rather than giving through one of our existing programs.

Most donors choose to direct their scholarship to support a student in a particular major, field of study or from a specific geographic region. Scholarships may be named in memory or honor of a person, class or organization of your choice. Charitable gifts are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by law, and most gifts are payable over a five-year period.

ADVANCE FACULTY & RESEARCH

→ Texas A&M University is committed to creating an environment in which faculty feel inspired and enabled to reach their full potential through academic freedom.

Through an endowed gift to the Texas A&M Foundation, you can help attract high-quality faculty to the university, increase retention, and enhance creativity and productivity. Because state funds cover only basic faculty requirements, private support is more critical than ever.

You can invest in faculty by creating an endowed chair, professorship or fellowship. These are elite academic positions held only by top professors on campus.

The endowed funds from these gifts generate an annual income to pay for a professor's research, travel costs, and the salaries of his or her graduate assistants. Chair, professorship and fellowship names are part of a professor's title, and you can choose to name your gift after yourself or someone you'd like to honor. The faculty member awarded your chair, professorship or fellowship is referred to as the holder.

PRESERVE THE AGGIE SPIRIT

Texas A&M University's student programs have been turning Aggies into outstanding citizens for more than a century. Commonly known as the "other education," these more than 1,000 campus programs build well-rounded leaders with positive values whose contributions to business and civic life are immeasurable.

The Texas A&M Foundation manages endowments for many of Texas A&M's student organizations, such as the Corps of Cadets, The Big Event, Fish Camp and Memorial Student Center leadership programs.

As all programs are inextricably connected and overseen by the Division of Student Affairs, a gift to any initiative positively impacts the overall Aggie student experience.

FOSTER COLLEGE EXCELLENCE

The Foundation's leadership works closely with Texas A&M University administrators, such as the university president, deans and department heads, to identify priorities and needs within each of Texas A&M's colleges and branch campuses. These become the focus of Foundation fundraising efforts. Programs housed within Texas A&M's

You can view a list of current priorities for each college and unit at Texas A&M University by visiting give.am/CollegePrograms.

colleges and units play an important role in the university's land-grant mission and add to the exceptional academic experience every student seeks in Aggieland.

Additionally, there are opportunities to create endowed excellence funds for a specific department, which allows a dean or department head to use the funds for specific unit priorities. As these priorities are continually evolving, excellence funds are both generous and practical. For example, a dean or department head could use discretionary gifts in an excellence fund for equipment acquisition, faculty teaching awards or career development, student competitions or conference travel, or special events.

ENDOWMENTS

Establishing an endowment is one of the most powerful ways to make a lasting impact on Texas A&M University, and a majority of donors choose to give in this way. Endowments are a critical component of the Foundation's mission to build a brighter future for Texas A&M, because they guarantee that financial support will remain readily available for the future needs of Aggieland and its students. Discover some of the most frequently asked questions about endowments.

What is an endowment?

An endowment is a permanent fund that the Foundation invests for the benefit of Texas A&M. It is an amazing philanthropic tool that allows you to benefit Aggieland for generations.

How can I create an endowment?

Creating an endowment is easy and comes with the freedom to direct your gift for a specific purpose based on your passions at Texas A&M. Your wishes for the name of the endowment and what it will support in Aggieland are documented via a signed gift agreement with the Foundation. While endowments begin at $25,000, you can fund your gift over a period of up to five years. No matter what you choose to support, your gift will create a powerful legacy given the long-term financial impacts of endowments.

How does the Texas A&M Foundation manage endowed gifts?

When you create an endowment, the Foundation takes your gift—called the “principal”—and permanently invests it in our Long-Term Investment Pool (LTIP), a highly diversified portfolio. The LTIP is a dedicated source of long-term funding, made up of thousands of endowed gifts of all sizes from donors, that supports the mission and work of Texas A&M. The LTIP is managed by the Foundation's Investment Office with oversight from our Board of Trustees. Our Investment Team also leverages third-party relationships to provide additional resources and support for the overall investment process.

Each year, a portion of the LTIP is paid out to the university as an annual distribution to fund the purposes designated by donors. The Foundation determines a payout rate for all endowments based on long-term goals and current market conditions. This annual payout rate is what will support your passions in Aggieland, while the principal is maintained in perpetuity—even in a market downturn.

Additionally, it is the Foundation's view that diversification is the single most important component to help us meet our university funding objectives year after year and perpetually provide value to Texas A&M. The overall risk in our portfolio is significantly reduced through investments that are broadly diversified by type, strategy, asset class, geography and risk exposure. Given the size of our total portfolio, we have access to best-in-class investment managers across a wide variety of asset classes and can construct a portfolio with differentiated return streams that is difficult to replicate for a non-institutional investor.

→ Long-Term Investment Pool Growth

How do endowments benefit Texas A&M University?

While all gifts to the Foundation contribute to the high quality of education found at Texas A&M, endowments are particularly meaningful as they offer a dependable source of funding. Plus, as more individuals contribute endowed gifts to the Foundation's portfolio, financial support for Texas A&M continues to increase, resulting in greater campus impact.

→ The Growth of an Endowment

We invest endowment funds using asset allocation to maximize growth while safeguarding capital during tough economic times. The chart below illustrates the market value of a $100,000 endowed scholarship created in 2002 and its cumulative value of student stipends. This single endowment would have paid out $105,170 by 2022. Its market value after that 20-year period would be $165,417. Over that 20-year period, the payout is greater than the original gift value and will provide an even greater impact in the years to come.

* The pass-through gift is awarded to the student. Future stipend amounts are awarded at the discretion of the account administrator. These examples assume payments are made by check or cash. Gifts made by credit cards may extend the payout date. Gifts supporting scholarship programs including the President's Endowed Scholarship, Endowed Opportunity Award, Foundation Excellence Award, Regents' Scholarship and Corps of Cadets Scholarships may vary from the above mentioned stipend amount.
