You can support a member of the Corps of Cadets through one of four scholarships: a Keepers of the Spirit Scholarship, a Corps of Cadets 21st Century Scholarship, a General Rudder Corps Scholarship or a Sul Ross Scholarship. Scholarships are payable over a five-year period and may be funded with gifts of cash, securities, real estate or corporate matching gifts.

Additionally, donors may choose to create a future Corps Scholarship through one of many planned giving options. While most scholarships are named after the donors who give them, you may also choose to name your scholarship in memory or honor of another person, class or organization. Once funded, these scholarships provide a student with a yearly stipend for up to four years, after which a new cadet will begin to benefit from your gift.

Leave a Legacy

Because Corps Scholarships are endowed, they will support deserving members of the Corps of Cadets in perpetuity. When you fund an endowed Corps Scholarship, you will be offered a personalized commemorative gift honoring the person(s) for whom the scholarship is named. Donors who fund current Keepers of the Spirit Scholarships or Corps 21 Scholarships will become members of the Texas A&M Legacy Society.
