

Kinwise Mission 01: The Trading Challenge

Long ago, people didn't have coins or phone apps. If someone wanted something, they had to trade what they had for what they needed. Today, you will see how hard that can be. Can you solve the Trading Problem just like Aoi and Ren?

Step 1: The Kid's item, Ask your child to pick one small toy or object they are willing to "trade" (e.g., a toy, a LEGO figure, a marker).

Step 2: The Parent's item, Parents choose something your child might want (e.g., a favorite snack, a sticker, a 5-minute game).

Step 3: Try to trade, When the kids offer their toy, parents say: "I don't really want that toy. I want something else."

Step 4: Talk about it, Sometimes people wanted different things – so the trade didn't work. This is the Trading Problem people had long ago.

Design the future money

Grandpa Sora said that long ago people used shells and stones. Today we use coins, cards, and numbers on phones. What do you think money will look like 100 years from now?

- Draw your Future Money in Crystal Ball.
- Name of your future money:

