Course Description:
What issues have Latinas faced in historic and contemporary contexts and how have they challenged these issues through cultural production? What is the role of culture in challenging dominant narratives regarding Latinas and helping them craft liberation strategies? This course examines these questions through a cultural studies and intersectional lens beginning with the 1960s movement era through the contemporary moment.
Course Requirements:

Email Policy: I will regularly send you emails containing important course information to your official UCSD email. I do not check email over the weekend or after 5pm. I will typically respond to your email within 24 hours. If your email was sent over the weekend when you can expect a response by Monday. This is a reminder to prioritize rest!

Class Content Warning: Class content includes discussion of gender-based violence, racism, capitalist exploitation, and more. Please be aware and decide accordingly if you wish to take this course.

Community Guidelines: Given the nature of the course, there will likely be a wide range of opinions. Ideally, the course will prompt you to think for yourself and to raise questions about conventional views and received wisdom. Please engage with me and one another with respect. Abusive and harsh language will not be tolerated.

Majoring or Minoring in Ethnic Studies: Many students take an Ethnic Studies course because the topic is of great interest or because of a need to fulfill a social science, non-contiguous, or other college requirement. Often students have taken three or four classes out of interest yet do not realize how close they are to a major, a minor, or even a double major. An Ethnic Studies major is excellent preparation for a career in law, education, medicine, public health, social work, counseling, journalism, government and politics, international relations, and many other careers. If you would like information about the Ethnic Studies major or minor, please contact: If you would like information about the Ethnic Studies major or minor, please contact: Mónica Rodríguez, de Cabaza, Ethnic Studies Department Undergraduate Advisor (nmrodriguez@ucsd.edu).
