Foreword

This issue of the Lon gives a colorful comparison of the present day with Old England. We have aimed to create a feeling of satisfaction with modern times and modern school systems in contrast to that of the old schoolmaster.

Dedication

The Associated Students of the Eastern Oregon Normal School wish to dedicate this 1932 edition of the Ton to the businessmen of La Grande, whose moral encouragement and financial assistance have made this third annual publication possible.

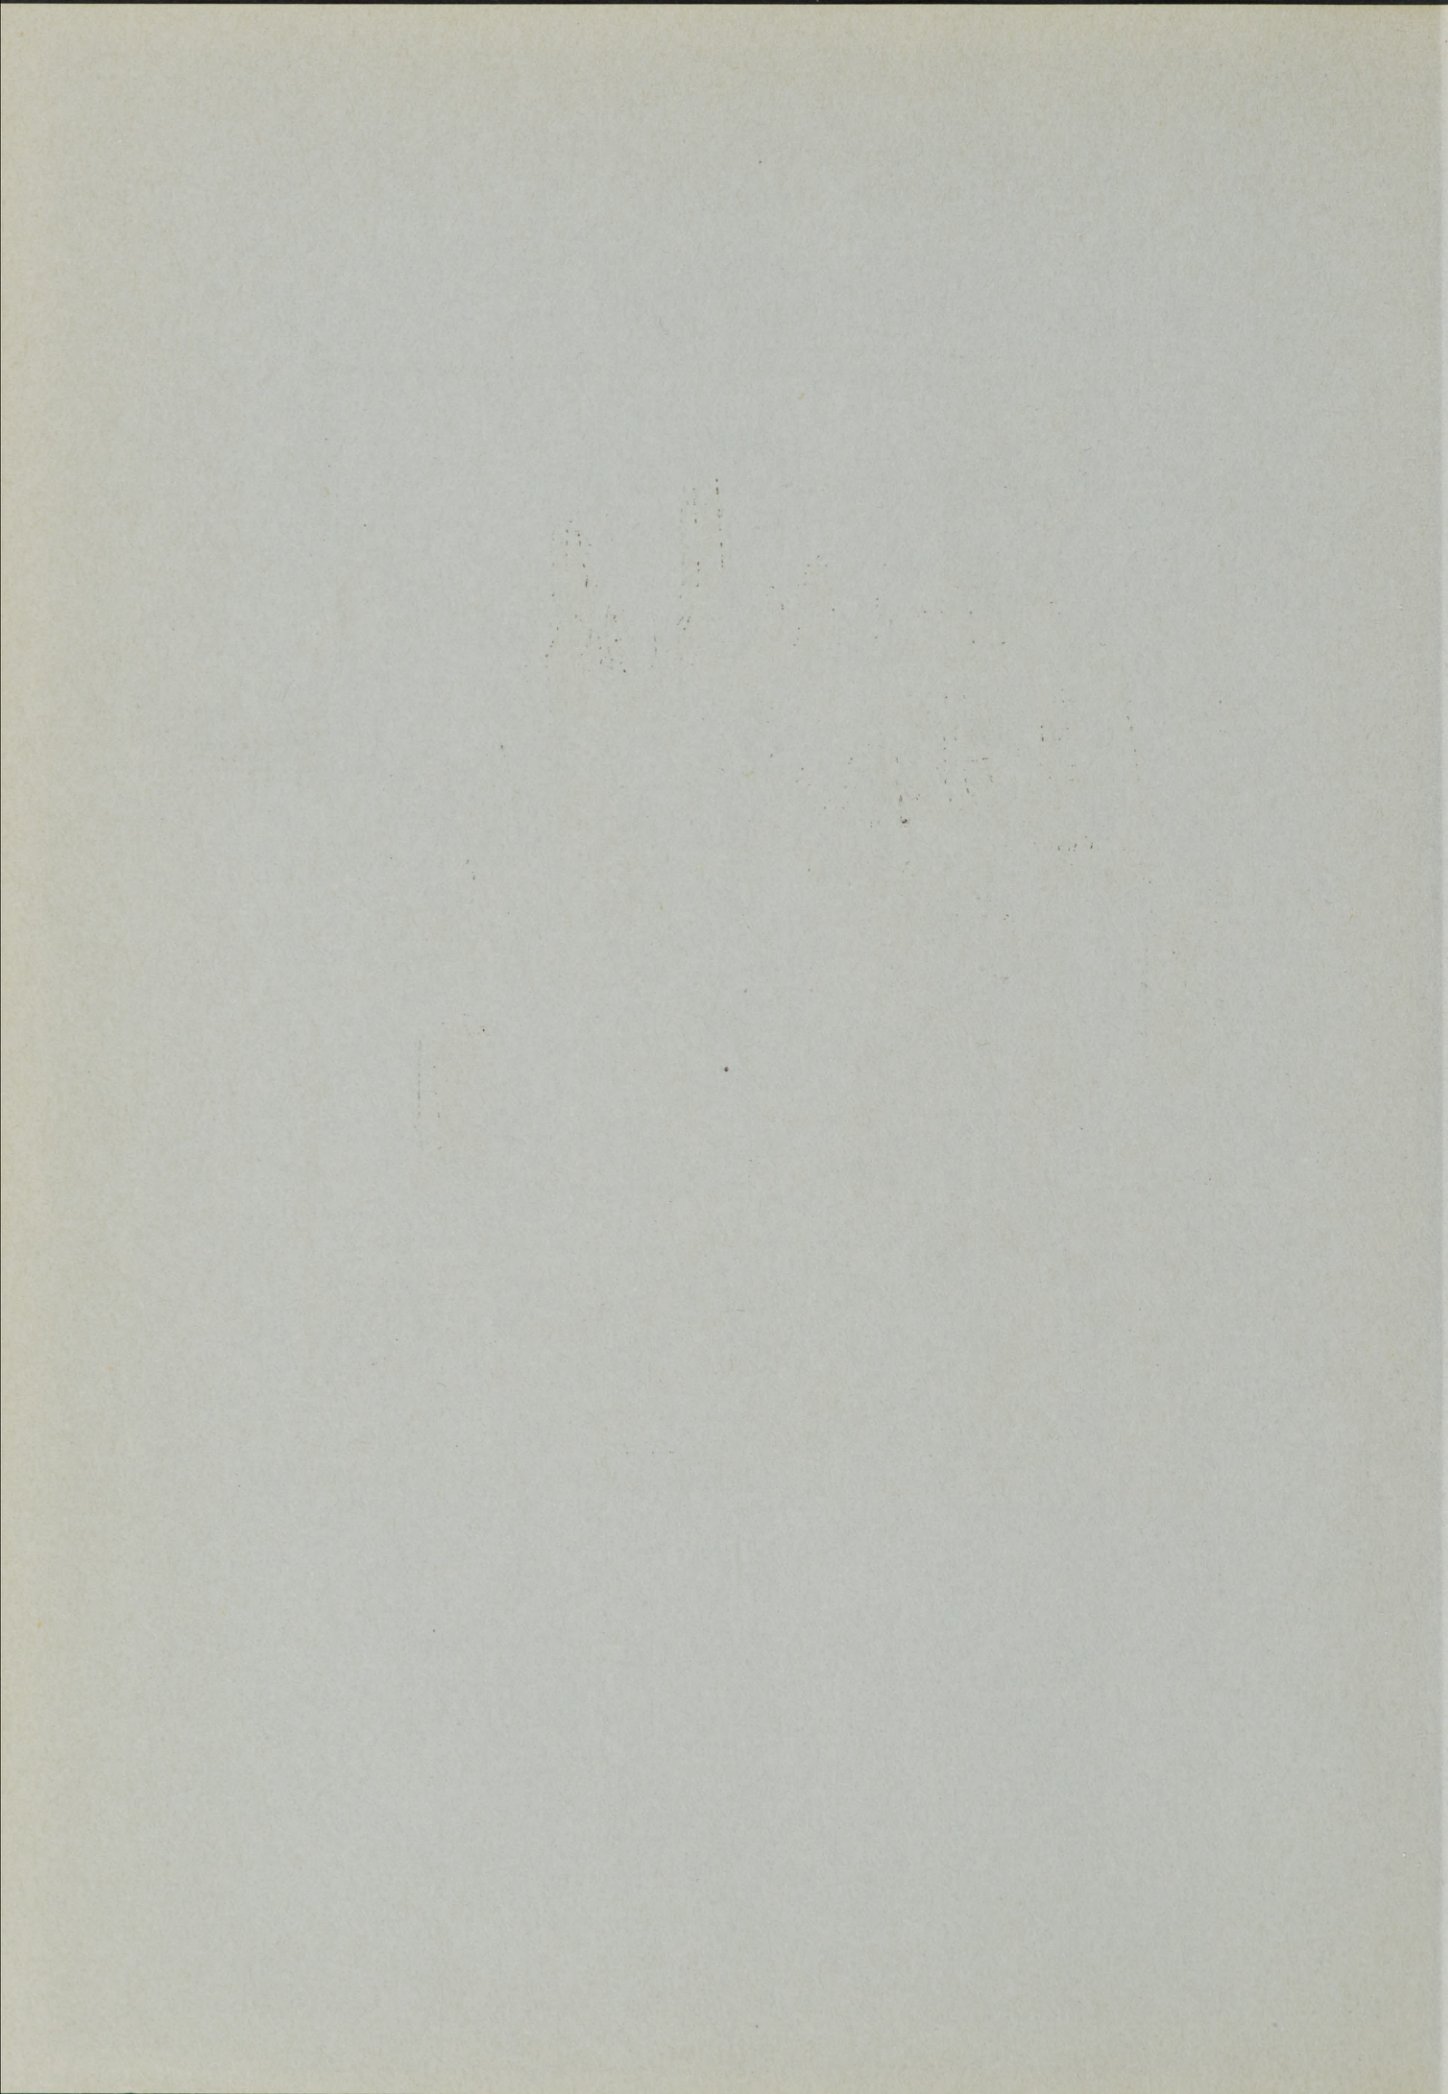

Our campus is more beautiful this season than ever before. Many colorful flowers, friendly shrubs, and a host of stately trees surround the green lawn and administration building, creating a landscape of true Italian style. As the years bring additional improvements, the future will see a campus of ever increasing charm.

Administration

Masters of their profession, they did direct and supervise most proficiently, having in their souls to be of service. Insooth, their patient efforts were well justified.

PRESIDENT H. E. INLOW

1932

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The spirit of our forefathers has been exemplified in more than one national crisis. Courage and fortitude, coupled with high purpose and endeavor, have enabled the American people to overcome obstacles and move forward to new goals of achievement.

This year college life, in common with every other phase of national life, has been confronted with problems of more than usual difficulty. While the condition of the economic world has resulted in straitened circumstances and has reduced or erased the margin of expenditure beyond that of urgent necessity, the American spirit on college campuses has responded with more serious purpose and determination to achieve, yet leaving the door open that happiness may enter into college experience.

Students of the Eastern Oregon Normal will, in future years, recall through the pages of the 1932 EON a year in which purposeful effort was regarded with a keen satisfaction in achievement.

H. E. INLOW,

PERSONAL - GUIDANCE WORK

All over the United States in schools of higher learning, effort is being made more than ever before to help students in self-development and in the realization of the finest possible personality. In our own school personnel-guidance and student counselling needs are recognized. Scholarship and development of fine personality are established aims, leading toward developing fine, well-balanced students.

Counselling groups furnish opportunity for choice of a faculty adviser and for membership in a small student group. Social and professional contacts are enjoyed through these channels, and conferences as well as friendly informal meetings are a part of the general program.

This plan of counselling and guidance has been initiated and directed by a general faculty committee composed of six members. With the exception of President Inlow and Dean Moor, all faculty members serve in the capacity of advisers.

STUDENT COUNCIL

President.....	Austin Dunn
Vice-President.....	Floyd Baxter
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Ruth Leonard
Business Manager.....	Arlo Noyes
Seniors.....	Robert Sullivan, Dallas Norton
Freshmen.....	Jerry Medcalf, Harold Hoyt
Faculty.....	Dean of Women—Helen S. Moor Dean of Men—Elmo Stevenson

The Student Council during the year 1931-1932 contributed its share toward making the year a successful one. All student body activities are directed by this organization.

The council is composed of the student body officers, the business manager, two members from the freshman class, and two faculty members.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

President.....	Austin Dunn
Vice-President.....	Floyd Baxter
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Ruth Leonard

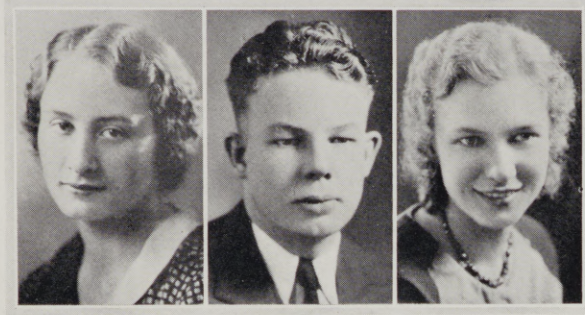

With a group of very capable student body officers in control, the Associated Student Body of the Eastern Oregon Normal School has had a very successful year. All matters relating to the interests of the students have been taken care of by these officers.

Classes

All were students with a purpose-- freshmen struggling to continue,
and seniors striving to complete;
verily, all the scholars did their positions besit.

SENIOR CLASS

OFFICERS

President..... Lee Johnson
 Vice-President..... Lucille Hudelson
 Secretary-Treasurer..... Virginia McWilliams

The senior class during the past year has functioned more as a group of separate individuals than as a single unit. With every member of the class participating in at least one outside activity in the normal school, we have helped to make every undertaking of the school a success.

The two years we have spent here have been happy and joyous, and we leave with a cherished remembrance of the friendships and associations which we have formed among the students and faculty members.

The senior class sincerely hopes that the Eastern Oregon Normal school may continue to grow and to uphold the fine standards of scholarship which it has established.

Upon entering the E. O. N. the last fall quarter, one would have observed a large number of students wandering aimlessly about the halls, as though they knew not where to go or what to do. If one had noticed the same group this spring quarter he could not have helped observing the purposeful program these freshmen were following and how cheerfully they were cooperating in their efforts to acquire a higher education.

This year's freshman class has been very successful in all athletic and social activities, including the freshman dance on the 17th of March, and the freshman-senior picnic. It has also left a well-established name for itself in the classroom. Much is to be expected of the class next year.

NORMAL SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The activities of a school reflect the attitude and spirit of the students.

Eastern Oregon Normal School has this past year, more than ever before, varied her activities so that it takes in every individual, no matter what that person's interests may be.

The student body clubs, consisting of a men's club and women's league, include every person in the school. Here the students participate in social activities and receive practical advice and assistance.

Educational knowledge is given to the students through other activities. The Phi Beta Sigma, a national organization, is the aim of every student of Eastern Oregon Normal School. The National Association of Childhood Education, through its meetings, gives the student much valuable information.

All the activities of Eastern Oregon Normal School, though not classified under the educational heading, are of an allied nature in their motives and work.

The students have obtained a better appreciation of nature through the Nature Club and Campfire organizations. The Grande Ronde Valley is one of the most beautiful valleys in Oregon, and has been the inspiration for much of the nature study activities.

The music department offers all those who are interested an opportunity to enrich their knowledge and increase their appreciation of music through glee clubs, chorus, orchestra, and special music classes.

Those interested in drama and debate find an opportunity for special training through Forensic and Sock and Buskin activities.

A permanent record of school life and activities is maintained by the publication of the EON and The Beacon, sponsored entirely by the students of Eastern Oregon Normal School.

THE ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

OFFICERS

President.....	Vadis Slack
Vice-President.....	Evawynne Jones
Secretary.....	Ruth Geibel
Treasurer.....	Jimmy Nelson

The Associated Women Students has as its purpose the strengthening of loyalty and good fellowship among the women students, and the development of cooperation between the students and the administrative officers of the school. It also provides a means of encouraging high ideals of character and of social standards.

At the various meetings throughout the year Miss Moor gave interesting and purposeful talks. Tea was served by one of the various houses at each meeting.

Social affairs were sponsored by the association throughout the year. During the fall quarter a Doll Party and a Hard Times Party were enjoyed by the members and the women faculty guests. In addition two dances for men and women students were sponsored: a Christmas dance, and a Spring dance in honor of the seniors.

The work of the association was furthered by numerous acting committees under the direction of the officers. The Associated Women Students have had a very successful and enjoyable year.

MEN'S CLUB

OFFICERS

President.....	Robert Sullivan
Vice-President.....	Ellis Watkins
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Elwood Hiatt

The Men's Club, the organization of all the men students of the Normal School, has had its most successful year. In the fall quarter, the associated men students held a get-acquainted smoker and will be remembered for its exciting wrestling and boxing bouts, free-for-all games, and delicious refreshments.

In the winter quarter the club had another of its entertaining smokers, featuring a comical wrestling stunt by "Monk" Carden and Ray Roll. Also, in the winter quarter, the Men's Club sponsored one of the best dances of the year. The Valentine motif was cleverly carried out in the decorations and in the refreshments. The program opened with a word of welcome by President Inlow, and the entertainment consisted of the Gettysburg Address, with Harvey Carter as Lincoln; two musical selections by the Men's Quartette; a humorous skit about George Washington's cherry tree episode; and several piano selections by Harold Hinshaw.

The members of the club acted as student police during the football and basketball seasons and for the pep rallies.

Both the Normal School and the members have profited by the services of the organization, and its activities have provided good amusements for its members; therefore it has been a worthwhile organization.

Class Historians.....	Margaret Milne, Elta Dale

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to foster true sportsmanship, to further interest in athletics by providing wholesome recreational activities, and to encourage good fellowship among the women of the Eastern Oregon Normal School. The ideal of the association is not the development of a few champions but rather the participation of as many women as possible in athletics.

The association, assisted by the Women's League, planned the decorating of the women's rest room and were able to purchase a phonograph and curtains for the windows. It is expected that this project will be carried on by next year's athletic association.

The "Order of the Blue O" was permanently organized this spring for the purpose of establishing and upholding school traditions. Our newly organized lettermen's club is rapidly assuming responsibilities on the campus and is playing a prominent part in student activities.

Any man winning a letter in a major sport at Eastern Oregon Normal is eligible for membership. The loyal support of student activities is the pledge of all members. Active members of this club must be registered in school. On leaving school a letterman automatically becomes an associate member.

EON STAFF

This year's staff of the EON has planned and executed what we hope will be considered one of the best literary productions of the Eastern Oregon Normal School. We express our appreciation to Caroline Daniel, our adviser, and to other faculty members and students who have been of much assistance in making this annual a worthy publication.

Miss Wilda Barker was faculty adviser during the fall quarter.

The first year of the Beacon has come to a very successful close. The time has been filled with trials and tribulations, which helped make every issue a bit better than the previous ones.

The paper came into existence as an answer to student comment which was reflected by definite action by the student council in organizing the Beacon staff. To Lum Rhea, editor, and Miss Wilda Barker, first faculty adviser, is due much credit for initiating the project. The first issue of the Eastern Oregon Normal School paper was published November 20, 1931. Since then the Beacon has been published every two weeks.

The O-NA-E Campfire group was organized as an outgrowth of a class in Campfire leadership conducted by Miss Larson during the winter quarter. The regular activities of Campfire were carried on, and during the term the girls earned the rank of Woodgatherer.

The ideals of Campfire: seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, and be happy; when developed in the lives of young girls, lead them into a beautiful and wholesome womanhood. Campfire furnishes a pleasant means of realizing these ideals. It attempts to lead its followers into wider and richer experiences spiritually, mentally, and morally.

The course of Campfire Leadership is for the purpose of preparing Normal School graduates to carry on Campfire work successfully in the communities into which they will go when teaching.

A council fire was held at the end of the winter quarter at the home of Mrs. Jerry Wright. At that meeting the girls were awarded their rank and honor beads. At following meetings the girls fulfilled their requirements for membership and planned an interesting program of activities for the remaining school year. These activities enable the girls to take their second rank, that of Fire Maker.

NATURE CLUB

OFFICERS

President.....	Elta Dale
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Kathryn Metcalf
Adviser.....	Elmo Stevenson

Last Fall an enjoyable picnic at Pine Cone began a very successful year for the Nature club. A long season of snow made possible several skiing parties, of which the bonfires and "eats" were principal features.

A trip through the Yellowstone National Park by means of colored slides was presented by the club as an assembly program during the winter quarter. Also additional pictures of the common birds, flowers, and trees of Oregon were secured and were shown to a large group of interested nature lovers.

Just ask a member of the Nature club how to pull taffy. He knows! Games and taffy galore constituted an unforgettable afternoon for the club members.

Several nature hikes were conducted during the spring for the purpose of securing data on the return of the birds and spring flowers.

The Nature club is unique in that it has no set membership. Anyone who is interested in learning more about nature and enjoying outdoor activities, and who will meet the requirements of the particular event, may be a member.

ORCHESTRA

MEMBERSHIP

Piano.....	Iola Gooding
Violins.....	Mrs. Leo Miller, Edna Turner, Virginia McWilliams, Margaret Milne, Jennie Nielson, Phyllis Crabill, Dorothy Higgins
Bass Viol.....	Rev. Paul Mortimore
Clarinet.....	Clare Thomas, Dallas Norton
Trumpets.....	William Caldwell, Charles Heard, Billy Wiese
Bass Horn.....	Donn Poarch
Trombone.....	Lee Johnson
Saxophones.....	Arlo Noyes, Derwin Reynaud, Jack Parsons

For those students who are able to play an orchestral instrument, the Normal School orchestra offers a splendid opportunity for training under a capable director. Only standard orchestra music of the highest class is played and a very fine quality of music has been produced.

During the past year the orchestra has appeared at a number of the social and dramatic activities of the school and has also played for the baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

DANCE ORCHESTRA

MEMBERSHIP

Piano.....	Iola Gooding
Trumpet.....	William Caldwell
Bass Horn.....	Donn Poarch
Trombone.....	Lee Johnson
Saxophones.....	Jack Parsons, Arlo Noyes
Drums.....	Lum Rhea

The "Melody Venders," a dance orchestra composed entirely of students of the Normal School, have furnished music for all of the dances held at the school this year. Attractive costumes added much to the appearance of the orchestra. This organization has been a very active division of the music department and will probably continue next year.

In order that the women students of EON might receive additional training in music, the girls' glee club was organized in the fall of 1931. Since its inception it has proved one of the most worthwhile organizations of the school. The glee club has sung for a number of meetings in the city of La Grande and in addition has appeared on several assembly programs.

One of the most active divisions of the music department in the past year has been the Men's Glee Club. Under the splendid leadership of Miss Jennie Peterson the organization has been given excellent training in group singing and has appeared a number of times in public. In addition to singing for a number of assembly programs, the men's and girls' glee clubs combined to sing at a music week concert, accompanied by the La Grande municipal band.

The new cyclorama, which added immensely to the stage setting throughout the plays and made quick changes of scenes possible, was initiated during the fall quarter.

An impressive initiation ceremony was held in February and May, at which time about twenty new members were admitted into the club.

A need for a more practical point system led to a revision of the constitution. Points for membership are now awarded for the number of hours spent on committee work and for the responsibility of the chairmanship of committees.

Permanent costume and stage managers were appointed. They were: Costume Manager, Elta Dale; and Stage Manager, Ray Roll.

The one big dramatic production of the year was "The Rivals," presented during the fall quarter by Sock and Buskin. The play, a most interesting and entertaining comedy of the 18th century, was written by Richard Sheridan. An outstanding feature of the entertainment was the costumes, which were typical of the Old English styles of the 18th century.

"The Sleeping Car," by William Dean Howells, a one-act play, was given for the student body during the winter quarter and was enthusiastically received. The stage setting, which was the interior of a Pullman car, was most unusual and convincing.

TRAINING SCHOOL

In the training school of the Eastern Oregon Normal School the teachers endeavor to correlate the subject matter with real life situations to as great a degree as is possible.

In the above photograph is shown the happy working atmosphere which prevails throughout the training school. At the time these third grade pupils were making a study of wool. Every phase of the woolen industry was covered in this unit of work. The children gained much useful and interesting knowledge.

The following paragraph was written by one of these children describing a phase of this study:

SCOURING WOOL

Grade 3 B

"The Third Grade is studying about wool. We washed some wool. It was a very dirty job. A long time ago they washed the wool before they sheared the sheep. Now days they put it into boiling soapsuds in large tanks. If it does not get clean they use chemicals. After this they are ready to card the wool."

TRAINING SCHOOL ASSEMBLIES

Frequent Training School assemblies are held in the assembly hall primarily for the purpose of children's sharing and enjoying one another's productions. During the year each room entertains with at least one assembly, and there are also several general programs, such as a Thanksgiving pageant, a Christmas play, a George Washington's birthday program, and a spring Music Festival.

It is believed such experiences give children valuable participation both as performers and members of an audience, as well as contributing to their general knowledge and background.

Definite effort is made in this program to select and produce material of a spiritual nature. Christmas carols and the Bible story of the Christ Child are used as background each year. The play following these numbers which was used this year was that of Hermann, the Clock-Maker, adapted from Ruth Sawyer's book, "This Way to Christmas."

Herman, the Clock-Maker, is the old theme of the poor and unassuming individual cheerfully and eagerly helping others in need and being unexpectedly rewarded himself at last. In this story the little old clock-maker spends most of his time mending children's toys and most of his money in supplying their needs. At last the wonderful clock, which he has spent many years in making and which was to have served as his Christmas offering in the Cathedral to the Christ Child, is sold, after a struggle with himself, to provide a Christmas for needy neighbor children. Instead of the pretentious offering planned, an apple, which was to be his next meal, is given at the altar. The golden light streams down upon him and he is amazed and overcome to know it is the supreme gift. The choir bursts into song and all rejoice.

Phi Beta Sigma, national honorary educational society, is represented on the Eastern Oregon Normal School campus by the Gamma chapter. Its purpose is to promote teaching as a profession, to uphold high professional standards and ideals, and to engender worthy professional attitudes within the student body and within the teaching profession. Eligibility for membership consists of high scholarship, genuine interest in teaching, and demonstrated ability to contribute actively to the solution of these problems.

On November 6 and 7, the national convention of Phi Beta Sigma met at the Eastern Oregon Normal School with the Gamma chapter as host. Other activities of the year included an assembly program, studies of professional topics, addresses by prominent members of the profession, social gatherings, and a picnic at Cove.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

OFFICERS

President.....	Lucille Hudelson
First Vice-President.....	Eunice Herr
Second Vice-President.....	Connie Lequerica
Third Vice-President.....	Alice Inlow
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Ruth Leonard
Adviser.....	Arta Lawrence

A new chapter of the National Association of Childhood Education was instituted at the Eastern Oregon Normal, La Grande, Oregon, at an organization meeting held January 28. The association was organized for the purpose of cooperating with other Oregon chapters to correlate childhood education, promote the progressive type of education, and raise the standards of training for teachers.

The aim of this organization is to carry out these objectives. The nursery, kindergarten, and primary divisions will combine with a study group of the La Grande P. T. A. to study childhood problems. The meetings of the year will include both social and business programs. One of the interesting social events was an Easter breakfast at the Sacajawea Hotel. At one of the meetings Mrs. Ralph Badgley gave a very interesting talk on the possibilities of science teaching in the primary grades. Book reviews also played an important part in the organization's calendar, and on March 24 "The Teacher Outside the School" by Marsh was reviewed by different members of the organization.

Much interest and enthusiasm has been shown by members of the organization. Although our chapter is still in its infancy, we expect our accomplishments, through the guidance and experience of other chapters, to be many.

Other Oregon chapters are located in Monmouth, Portland, Salem, Eugene, and Baker. We expect soon to affiliate with them.

The Eastern Oregon Normal Forensic Club entered upon its third year with Lucille Hudelson as president and Edward Daniel as adviser. The fall quarter was spent in initiating the new members and studying theories in debate. At the beginning of the winter quarter a debate class was offered with two hours' credit. The work formerly performed by the club was then taken over by the class. The members of the class were as follows: Gordon Faires, Bill Temple, Dwight Mahoney, Lawrence Gray, Lucille Hudelson, Elwood Hiatt, Austin Dunn, Victoria Worden, and Agness Davis.

The women's team, composed of Lucille Hudelson, Evawynne Jones, and Agness Davis, held two debates. The first one was with Northwest Nazarene College, of Nampa, Idaho, and was a non-decision debate. The second was with College of Idaho, at Caldwell, which resulted in a decision in favor of the College of Idaho.

The men's team, composed of Elwood Hiatt, Austin Dunn, and Dwight Mahoney, participated in fourteen debates, and, although all the contests were not won, the team represented the Eastern Oregon Normal School very ably and upheld the high standards of debate set by participants from Eastern Oregon Normal in previous years.

Won — Monmouth Normal, Pacific University (two debates), Whittier College, Willamette University, Linfield College, Albany College.

Lost — Whitman College (two debates), Linfield College, Albany College, Monmouth Normal.

Nondecision — Oregon State Varsity, University of Oregon Frosh.

A women's honorary society was organized in the Eastern Oregon Normal School during the spring quarter of this school year. Its purpose is to promote high scholarship among the women students. Membership is based solely on scholastic achievement, and the standards that have been set are such that membership in this fraternity is really an honor.

Sports

The equestrian hunter portrayed perfect action, cooperation, and sportsmanship. We could not seek a higher aim and did not stop at less.

FOOTBALL

With only two regulars of the 1930 football team reporting for practice, the Mountaineers were faced with the task of playing the hardest schedule in the history of the school. Seven games were listed against seven able opponents.

Thirty-four men turned out for the team and went through a strenuous practice period in preparation for the first game.

Spokane University offered the first opposition, and, after a stubborn fight, succumbed to a 2-0 defeat. E. O. N. put up a strong defense and gained much yardage, but was unable to score a touchdown. The only score of the game came in the closing minutes of play when Captain "Red" Irwin, assisted by "Bill" Lowry, tackled a Spokane player behind the goal line, thereby scoring a safety. Cleek's return of punts was a feature of the game.

Cheney Normal came to La Grande with a fast veteran team that worked together like a well-oiled machine. Only after extending themselves to the limit were they able to win by a 19-7 score. The E. O. N. touchdown was scored by Faus, who, with the help of Roe, Pearson, and Cleek, smashed the entire length of the field. Cleek kicked goal for the extra point. The work of Irwin, Hoyt, Rodgens, and Parker was outstanding in lines.

With the breaks going against them, the Mountaineers were defeated at Corvallis by the Oregon State Rooks, 25-0. Three of the four touchdowns came immediately after breaks — two resulting from intercepted forward passes which paved the way for scores, and the third from a fumbled punt that was recovered by the Rooks on the E. O. N. three-yard line. On that play the La Grande boys stiffened and it took the heavy Rooks four plays to make the three yards and a touchdown. Captain Irwin scored several tackles behind the Rook line. Hoyt, Hodgins, and Hyde played steady ball. Bredow was exceptionally strong on defense and was the only man to play the entire game.

1932

E. O. N. was the opponent for the Lewiston Normal's homecoming game and found the Lewistonians hopped to the sky. The Mountaineers put up a good defense, but, as was typical of most of the games, their offense was not functioning properly. Lewiston won 19-0.

The Mountaineers journeyed to Ashland and played in another homecoming game. Although the dope favored the Ashland team, the game ended in a scoreless tie. The game was replete with thrills from start to finish. The Mountaineers had several chances to score but could not take advantage of them. The teams were fairly evenly matched with S. O. N. being the better on passing while E. O. N. had the edge in running attack. One of the highlights of the game was a scoring threat on the part of the Mountaineers, that only the Ashland safety was able to diagnose. On the kickoff Pearson took the ball on the E. O. N. ten-yard line, gave it to Roe, who reversed his field and raced down the field to Ashland's twenty-yard line, where he was forced out of bounds by the safety. Every other member of the S. O. N. team was left unaware of who had the ball. Hyde was injured in this game and was out for the rest of the season. Bredow and Cleek also suffered painful injuries but were able to play in the next game. Irwin, Parker, Hoyt, Oesterling, Bredow, and Halverson played fine ball on the line, while the work of Roe, Lassen, Medcalf, and Faus was exceptionally good in the backfield.

The 27-0 defeat at Ellensburg on Armistice day was no surprise, as several of the regular players were either out of the game, due to injuries or else made more or less ineffective by crippled conditions. Ellensburg had a veteran team and went through the entire season without a defeat.

The E. O. N. homecoming game was played against Monmouth Normal. An array of long, bewildering forward passes, used after the Mountaineers successfully smeared trick plays and stopped running thrusts, gave the Monmouth Team a 37-6 victory. Except for passes, the teams were nearly on a par, and many believe Monmouth would have won, probably by a margin of one touchdown, had their aerial attack been silenced. Faus scored the only E. O. N. touchdown on an intercepted forward pass. "Bob" Oesterling played a wonderful game on defense, and Irwin, Hoyt, Parker, and Hodgens played even better than they had played in previous games.

Although the season as a whole was not a successful one from the standpoint of games won, every man on the team fought hard in every game and is deserving of much praise for his efforts and the fine sportsmanship that was displayed throughout the season.

With most of the players returning next year and the prospects of a veteran team instead of only two regulars, it is easy to predict big things for the 1932 team.

BASKETBALL

Coach Bob Quinn's basketeers started this season in Championship stride, winning their first six games with ease. The first team to defeat the Mountaineers was the Sons of Marcus from Whitman College. Previous to this game the Blue and Gold quintet defeated the Baker Elks in two games, 27-19 and 29-21; the Pendleton Antlers, one game, 34-19; the Enterprise All-Stars, two, 86-28 and 49-29; and Albany College, one game, 42-25.

After the Whitman game, Ashland came North to drop two games to Eastern Oregon Normal, 30-28 and 34-19. Then came Monmouth with hard-hitting forwards and an excellent guard. In fact, Scroggins defeated E. O. N. two games, 28-49 and 32-42. The invasion from Columbia University really looked as though it were going to be a successful one, as the Irishmen won the first game, 26-31. However, the Mountaineers recuperated the following evening to reverse the score, 31-27.

Whitman again defeated E. O. N. in an easy victory, 20-46. It was the last game at home and the defeat seemed to change the boys' luck definitely. The team missed the loyal student support on the four-game trip into the Willamette valley. Albany college defeated them in a fast game, 39-38. Then they trekked over to Monmouth where Scroggins marked two more victories, 24-28 and 21-33. The final game of the season was played in Portland against Columbia University. The Irishmen won this game, 21-33.

The summary of the season is: games won, 10; games lost, 8; total, 18.

Here's luck for next season.

BASKETBALL

JERRY MEDCALF

"Jerry"—Forward—Second Year

Jerry figured high in the scoring in every game. His uncanny ability to come out of a scramble under the basket and to score gave the spectators many thrills.

ALLEN GARDEN

"Monk"—Guard—Second Year

Monk was switched from forward to a guard position and he fit in his new position exceedingly well. He played with his heart and his head as well as his speed.

ELBERT BELTS

"Belts"—Center—First Year

Belts loomed up like a giant when he took the floor. His long reach gave him the tip-off on every man he met and he used his height to take the ball off both back-boards.

ERNEST BREDOW

"Ernie"—Guard—First Year

Ernie was a guard of high caliber and at some time during each game brought the crowd to their feet by his sensational long shots.

FLOYD BAXTER

"Floyd"—Forward—Second Year

Floyd was the king-pin in the Mountaineer attack in many of the games. His one-hand shots from inside the foul lines were extremely hard to guard.

Basketball was the major sport for women during the winter quarter. The Coach, Miss Larson, with the assistance of the W. A. A. President, Margaret Hubbard, the Freshman Sports Manager, Mildred Cade, and the Senior Sports Manager, Dorothy Barker, chose the most outstanding sportswomen and players for the Freshman and Senior teams. An all-day tournament was held which decided Miss Halsey's team champion of the Gym Classes. The important game of the day was the third of a series of Freshman-Senior games. The score was tied at the half but the Freshman led at the close, by a narrow margin, which gave them the championship for the season.

The annual basketball banquet, at the La Grande Hotel, brought the season to a successful close. The guests for the evening were President and Mrs. Inlow, Miss Helen Moor, and Miss Hilemen of Cove. President Inlow, Miss Moor, Miss Larson, and Miss Hubbard gave short talks on sportsmanship, and its importance in American life.

BASEBALL

Baseball was one of the most enjoyable of the spring sports. Many girls participated and very good sportsmanship was shown. This is the way that the games looked to the casual observer.

Baseball was this — all hit and miss, For the girls were having gym, And the pitcher's toss made the game a loss 'Cause they lacked athletic vim.	The fielders few had little to do But stand on their heads or scream, And the batter would strut with her eyes half shut — (The best thing she did was dream).

The umpire's call made a strike a ball
And the field team started to pout,
So the coach, sport-like, called the next a strike,
And declared the batter "out."

TENNIS

Tennis is very popular as a recreational sport among the women students at the Normal School. At all hours of the day "forty-thirty," "service," "play you a game of doubles" may be heard floating up from the courts, while the co-eds play a "love game."

ARCHERY

Everyone agrees that archery is a great sport. One enthusiastic sportswoman put her sentiments in rime:

We need a little muscle
To even pull the string,
And then we have to hustle
For we didn't hit the thing.

The arrows miss the target
And fly off o'er the hill,
Arrows we must run to get
And practice archery still.

SPEEDBALL

Speedball created much interest among the co-eds during the fall quarter. "Look out for your shins" was the password, and much fun was had by all. Teams were chosen, but, because of unfavorable weather, the games were not played until later in the spring.

School Life

Side by side, in class and out, the students worked and played, and were happy. School life produced the color, and the social functions completed the perfect composition.

MEMBERS OF THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Chairman.....Floyd Baxter
 Seniors.....Edna Hammack, Kermit Estes
 Freshmen.....Alyce Milne, Ralph Eastridge
 Faculty Advisers.....Miss Helen S. Moor, Mr. Elmo Stevenson

The duties of the social committee consist of planning and arranging student body social events. Every Friday night a student body social hour is sponsored. These weekly affairs, which draw considerable crowds, have become an integral part of school life. At this time many normal school students and their guests participate in dancing and card playing.

Diary of Ye Student

Fall Term

September 21. Am here arrived at ye magnificent Normal School today, and presently make knowan my capacities when dyd putt my intelligence into script.

Sept. 22. Today dyd find me noting what courses methought best to ensue, and gyving my tuition to ye secretarie.

Sept. 25. Saints defend me, for dyd occupy my eventide with merriment and amusements at ye grand Myxer, in which dyd acquaint with me several comely maidens.

Sept. 28. Monday, and am fynding that ye text is verily not self-explanatory, but requires due reeding in which to prepare my most incomprehensible lessons. Dyd rebuilde my resolves beyng to studie all sufficient.

October 1. Enjoyed ye opera hygh-lights, as were presented at a special assemblie.

Oct. 3. Dyd observe with glee Captain Irwin and William Lowry defeat Spokane University today. Thay tooke the football carrier bhynd his goal, where dyd proceed to make him holler down beyng sicc from ryding in ye air buggy.

Oct. 10. And another pigg skin bitt ye dust! Cheney Normal advanced and trounced us beyng a four-year team, and we were most attentive to the acrobatic yell leaders, Johnny Groves and Ray Roll.

Oct. 17. Beyng a singer dyd engage in ye amusements at a partie in which Miss Peterson entertaind her musical prodigees at the Sacajawea.

Oct. 18. Did suffer the Oregon State Rooks to transport ye football over our gole lion four times consecutively.

Oct. 30. Dyd make folly of ye witches and goblins, as sported myself in a hallowe'en dance in ye auditorium. The Melodie Venders distributed ye musical accompaniment with goodly harmonie.

November 4. Received and noted ye semi-quarter rating, wheretofor dyd repeat my muchly abused pledge to be studious. Dyd conclude that ye motto What You Don't Know Won't Hurt You fared ill for students.

Nov. 11. Ye patriotic Armistice day, when dyd sign a treaty for peace with Ellensburg's Athletic department one hour too late.

Nov. 21. Homecoming, in which dyd burn ye circular letter on yon snowy face of Table Mountain, and dyd freeze faster than Monmouth, beyng defeated by thair wolves by forward passes of ye swift sphere. Later dyd thaw out and make merrie at ye Homecoming Ball, wher William Caldwell did croone when the Moon Came Over the Mt.

Nov. 26. Dyd purchase my passage and do plan to leave ye institute to pass Thanksgiving at home, and dyd give thanks to Master Stevenson for Nott Gyving an assignment.

December 4. Up ye hill of stepps and to the assemblie hall, where Sock and Buskin presented The Rivals, beyng a comedie in three acts by Elwood Hiatt and Kermit Estes, esq., who dyd indeed rival the best actors ever. Also dyd receive a copie of the Beacon, a new school chronicle.

Dec. 11. Dyd escort my ladie faire to ye hall, where dyd enjoy ye Xmas dance by the Women's League.

Dec. 15. Now to my bookes, for reason that I must cram preparing for ye final but not trivial examination. Dyd realize that he who passes laughs best.

Dec. 18. Ye fall quarter ended and am here inspired to note that since ye fall opening have learned to studie, and do now perceive teaching as a profession, nor as a salaried job. So dyd bundle my kit, and to home for ye festivals of Christmas.

Winter Quarter

January 4. Made my arrival, and dyd pay my tuition, verily wishing that the best things in life Were free. Greeted my classmates, and noted and approved several new faces, beyng attractive ladies.

Jan. 5. Proceeded to my new classes, having foremost in my mynd to observe my resolution to Learn More of What and Why of All.

Jan. 8. On which date dyd shake the snow off my winter bootes at a Myxer, accompanied by the Musical Peddlers. Found more reasons for not learning to play at Bridgge.

Jan. 15. We dyd outrun the Pendleton Elks in basketballe, beating them severely. Observed that Jerry Medcalf, the diminutive darkhorse, dyd restore his skill in makyng baskets.

Jan. 17. Dyd recognize the birthday anniversarie of my model, Benjamin Franklin. Do lose my faith in hym, as dyd learn that he flew kites at the age of forty-five.

Jan. 20. Emerged from a stupor when dyd hear Professor Shelley of New Zealand disclose his philosophy, beyng, that a slow moving arrow is in the same place too long. His common sense, which is uncommon, was well received. Vita sine ars mors est.

Jan. 21. Our Mountaineers dyd provide Albany College embarrassments from conceit, when dyd beat them easily in basketballe.

February 5. Engaged in ye Men's Club Smoker, where dyd observe Monk Carden and Ray Roll myx in ye comicale wrestling bout. Beyng bitt on ye toe, ye matche was given to Ray Roll. Also the Women's League hadd a partie at ye schoolhouse, and was barred to menfolk. So ye evenyng, till at twelve bells of the watch, dyd burst forth with a vast committee of singers and serenade ye organized houses, where ye lasses dyd seem to be preoccupied.

Feb. 12. Ye birthday anniversarie of Abraham Lincoln, and we dyd observe it royally with a program at a Men's Club dance, at which, even to ye hosts, the heart-shaped cookies dyd vanish as souvenirs.

Feb. 14. Ye Men's debate team returned from the West where dyd quarrel with other colleges. Thay were well versed, winning manie debates on the question, "Resolved; that Congress should enact legislation providing for the centralized control of industries. Constitutionality waived."

Feb. 16. Dyd attack and defeat ye Columbia basketball team. At the half, many youthful boys entertained the audience with a girls' dainty basketballe game. William Temple filled the role of Nellie Bly verrie effectively, and Kermit Estes presented a special ballet. Inasmuche as the game developed into a dancing class, the score was unimportant.

Feb. 18. Sock and Buskin tooke into its fold several newly initiated members at a regular initiation.

Feb. 22. Observed the 200th Anniversary of George Washington, who gave most loyally manie years of his life for the goode of Our Countrie.

March 2. Dyd learne what songs the cowboys sing, as the Neighborhood Club dyd present a Cowboy Songs programme. The Blue Mountain wranglers entertained most goodly, beyng musicians of a high sort.

March 11. Ye Freshmann Class showed its talent at a St. Patrick's Day dance in green colors, where dyd see ye old Irish jig givn.

March 16. Dyd pause from ye final examinations in order to attend a College Songs program, under the supervision of our goode librarian, Miss Hawksworth. The assemblie committee has presented a right goode number of weeklie assemblies this quarter.

March 18. Ye quarter dyd end today, so do plan to lie me down and sleep during the whole week-end, as am weary from final tests.

SCHOOL

Spring Quarter

March 21. Today dyd denote the beginning of ye glorious Spring term, while as yet the climate does bring full blasts of winter. Forsooth I must hold true patience, and indeed spend my tyme at lessons, which the instructors seem to bestow unmercifully.

March 25. Dyd hear that many frantic practice teachers are dystressed proper, vexed by deeds of the urchins or words of the fastidious critic teachers.

April 1. April Fool's Day, and indeed was backward! Verily, all comers to the dance dyd retreat awkwardly into ye hall, jesting in their clumsiness, as dyd appear wyth garments reversed. The women dyd make sport of their pardners, and even ye venders of music dyd pack their pieces and depart, remarkingg April Fool!

April 6. Dyd fynd myself out of place inside ye portals, for ye administrators had dispersed and called a holiday. So home to my books, which dyd rest in dust from unuse, and dyd make goode plans toward ambitious studying.

April 16. Made my presence in ye auditorium throughout the day, to harken to ye song and music contest for neighboring high schools.

April 22. Ye Nature Club, under Master Stevenson's guidance, made forth to Morgan Lake this eventide, where quite a group of weary students roasted wiennies or charred sirloin steak, and dyd lyke it. Because ye erring moone dyd fail to ascend, and ye path homeward was darckk, being invisible but muddy, we dyd not joke at the mention of ye lowly mud turtel.

April 29. Tonight I dyd make forth to another goodly dance, and as Spring was in the air — not yett beyng down to earthe — I dyd venture into ye hall wyth my new golf pantaloons, where was tolde by my girl friend I dyd appear as one yet out of childhoode. And so to home.

May 2. Went to ye beautiful Oregon Day assemblie, where dyd re-learn to appreciate Jesse Applegate and his flock of early Oregon deciples. This nyght, dyd contribute sweetly to ye music concert by the Normal Glee organizations in conjunction with the Munciple Bande. In soothe, dyd make ye Tabernacle ring pleasantly with The Blue Danube and what could be founde of The Lost Chorde.

May 6. Dyd join with my council groupe and ride to The Cove, where we ate heavily of outdoor feasting, and then dyd jump into ye Cove Fountain of Youth to bathe myselfe. Equally, other groups dyd disperse to the Rooster's Peak or to Dutch Springs, where dyd collect flowers and tycks.

May 20. Dyd participate in ye byge Carnival, as was in a Councilling group. All othere council groups entertained also, and I was in no mood for week-end studying.

June 3. Tonight made my way to the big Spring Dance in honor of ye graduating Seniors, who came to have a last goode tyme as a Studente of ye Normal School.

June 5. Today dyd witness ye baccalaureate services for the Seniors.

June 6. Final Examinations dyd begyn in full force and flurry. Methinks that by ye last test time I will full be fit for ye vacation, and so do mean to crack ye references steady till in tests do us part. So will prepare, and praise Heaven for goode results.

June 8. Ye laste test is over, and do think that after all, this year has brought me profit beyond count, and so do not fear for lack of satisfactorie grades.

Commencement was held today, and verily they dyd say so that they regretted to leave ye old learning institution, but as a sign of their progress.

ELLIS WATKINS.

SCHOOL SNAPS

The collage features 18 individual photographs of students in various poses and activities. The photos are arranged in a grid-like fashion around the central text 'SCHOOL SNAPS'. The images include students sitting on steps, posing in groups, and individual portraits. The students are dressed in casual attire typical of the mid-20th century. The background of the collage is a dark, textured grey.

It is easy enough to be happy
 When your work is all up and so;
 But the stude worth while
 Is the stude who can smile
 While taking a course from Elmo.

THINGS WE LIKE TO SEE

Kermit Estes without Alice.	Dick Strand parting his hair.
Frances Jahn without a man.	Mr. Daniel teaching Modern Art.
Keith Putman studying.	Elta Dale not talking.
This year's picture of Floyd without his hat.	Mr. Inlow in a hurry.
Gladys Owens with her hair mussed up.	Pat Hubbard keeping the library quiet.
Ray Irwin serious.	Miss Larson playing golf at night.
Francis Lewis with curly hair.	June Coolidge cooing "honey."
Mr. Skeen arguing.	Miss Moor out after hours.
Miss Zabel unlocking her door.	Jeanne Crabill on the honor roll.
Miss Houx taking it easy.	Miss Peterson beating a silent beat.
Miss McCarter at Winnetka.	Lum Rhea polishing apples.
Bob Ragsdale laughing.

Pasadena — Down where I live we grew a pumpkin so big that when we cut it, my mother used one half of it for my cradle.

Dunn — That's nothing. A few days ago, right here in La Grande, two full grown policemen were found asleep on a beat.

Latecomer — Is the seat next to you reserved?

K. Pierce — Oh, very, it hasn't uttered a sound since I've been here.

Mr. Badgley — Can you tell me what makes the tower of Pisa lean?

D. Strickler — I don't know or I would take some myself.

Mr. Skeen — Mirrors reflect without speaking and students speak without reflecting.

Bill T. — Do you suppose my voice will fill the auditorium?

Miss Peterson — No, it will probably empty it.

Mr. Miller — I am dismissing you ten minutes early today. Please go out quietly so as not to awaken the other classes.

Ray Roll — What's the answer to the third question?

Wilson — Too bad, kid, you're in the wrong row today.

Mr. Skeen — You see, when the bell rings, the saliva starts to flow in the dog's mouth.

Joe Sayre — If you show him the meat, could he hear the bell ring?

Lee Johnson (Teacher) — You children have not been working as well as you should. If any of you feel that you are mentally incapable, please stand.
 (Child stands.)

Lee — Why, Johnny, you don't consider yourself incapable, do you?

Johnny — No, Mr. Johnson, but I didn't like to see you standing up all alone.

Mr. Stevenson — When is the season for shooting stars?

Medcalf — I really couldn't say. You see, I'm a little rusty on the game laws.

Mr. Daniel — What is the treaty of Frankfort?

E. Hiatt — A weiner roast on top of the Alps.

Caroline — Ready in a minute, dear.

Edward — No hurry, I have to shave again.

CONTRIBUTORS

The Eastern Oregon Normal School has indeed been fortunate in receiving the whole-hearted support and cooperation of a large majority of the business firms of La Grande. It is this support and cooperation that has made possible the publication of the 1932 EON. In a year marked by financial disturbance, the business and professional men and women of La Grande have responded very generously to our request for financial assistance.

The staff of the EON wishes to take this opportunity to express its appreciation and to extend its thanks to the industries of this city, and heartily to recommend the firms listed below as being worthy of the patronage of all Eastern Oregon Normal School students.
