EXPERIENCE

What does it take to enter the unknown in order to discover a new way forward?

To take uncertainty and turn it into opportunity?

Meriwether Lewis and William Clark left behind comfort and certainty to undertake a journey of discovery. They went beyond the bounds of what is known in order to forge a new path across uncharted territory. They chose to lead others into uncertainty, knowing that it would result in greater opportunity.

Who is this program for?

Similar to the Corp of Discovery, a diverse group of people of various backgrounds and traits will come together to learn new perspectives and build off of each other to be successful leading into the future. The following positions and more are welcome to join this powerful journey.

C-Suite, Executive Leadership, HR Leaders, Training & Development Leaders, Individual Contributors, Middle Management, Young Professionals

Leadership Lessons

Using their historic expedition as a backdrop, participants will explore the 5 key leadership lessons that made Lewis and Clark's journey a success and are still critical today:

VISION

Setting a clear and powerful vision and communicating it to your team.

BUILDING YOUR TEAM

Creating a culture of trust and building a strong and cohesive team.

OVERCOMING OBSTACLES

Utilizing knowledge and insight from others and preparing to tackle obstacles seen and unseen.

RESILIENCE

Responding to emerging challenges and opportunities and maintaining a high level of adaptive resilience.

PROCEEDING ON

Acknowledging growth and transformation and celebrating victories along the way.
