On February 6, 2020, join Passkey Partner Wolters Kluwer and research experts at the Aite Group for an informative look at the future of Commercial Lending. Join us for “The Brutality of Commercial Lending and Promise of Automation”.

Commercial lending is a brutal business. It requires perfection. Perfect credit judgment. Perfect risk assessment. Perfect operational process. Many other variables must go EXACTLY right, and, unfortunately, all of them negatively affect a business’ profitability.

In addition, a confluence of new technology, new competition, and uncertain regulations is redefining what it means to be a lender.

But there’s hope. New technology with advanced digitalization and automation can reinvent the commercial lending landscape and remove the obstacles for growth.

This webinar, presented by Wolters Kluwer’s Lien Solutions and Aite Group, will explore the current state of commercial lending, including the threats that make this business so difficult, as well as the opportunities that come to the sector via integration, innovation, and automation.
