Natalie Johnson

Dr. Natalie Johnson is an Associate Professor of Criminal Justice at Dalton State College in Dalton, GA. Teaching almost 14 years, she teaches courses such as sex trafficking, labor and organ trafficking, family violence, victimology, and criminology.

Dr. Johnson serves on the Statewide Human Trafficking Taskforce in Georgia and is part of Workgroup I, which educates and provides awareness of human trafficking to the community. She serves on the Board of Directors for the Georgia Coalition Against Domestic Violence (GCADV) and works on the Justice for Incarcerated Survivors (JFIS) project run by the GCADV. In addition, Johnson teaches for many study-abroad courses and uses a global approach when teaching many courses, but especially human trafficking.

Dr. Johnson's primary passions are seeking justice for all domestic violence survivors, human trafficking survivors, and those who have been wrongfully accused and convicted, all of which are reflected in what she teaches her students. Her students are her pride and joy—she calls them her "kids."

Dr. Johnson earned a Master of Science degree and a Ph.D. in Sociology with a concentration in Criminology from the University of North Texas.
