THE LEAN CONSTRUCTION IN THE FIELD CONFERENCE

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

San Francisco & Live Virtual Stream

The 6th Annual Lean Construction in the Field Conference – Takt Planning Edition – focuses on how Takt planning is transforming field operations by bringing rhythm, flow, and predictability to construction projects. Hosted in-person in San Francisco with a live-stream option, this practitioner-led event offers immersive learning and practical insights for teams across the industry with unlimited learning and networking opportunities.

Attendees will explore:

- What is Takt planning, and how does it support Lean construction in the field
- How to implement and improve Takt with real-world tools and workflows
- Case studies from Sutter, DPR, Turner, and Boldt on Takt and field innovation
- Best practices from U.S. and European projects applying Takt at scale
- Owner perspectives on how Takt supports collaboration and better project outcomes

The conference includes Gemba Walks, Takt Training, and a Takt Summit, offering a comprehensive learning journey. Gemba Walks provides on-site access to active projects applying Takt and Lean practices in real time. Takt Training delivers hands-on instruction for both beginners and advanced practitioners on building and improving Takt plans. The Takt Summit features case studies, deep dive sessions, and expert panels exploring global applications and owner perspectives. With over 7 sessions led by 13+ field experts, participants will gain actionable knowledge to enhance project delivery, team alignment, and Takt planning. The main conference is hosted over 2 days (1 day training, 1 day summit), with an optional Gemba-day before the conference. The conference prior editions attracted over 2500 attendees combined.

ABOUT THE ORGANIZER

The Lean Construction Blog is an educational platform with a mission to advance and promote Lean Construction around the world. With over 200k annual visitors and 300k annual page views, the Lean Construction Blog is one of the most visited and trusted sources for Lean Construction knowledge, a place where people can share case studies, best practices, and get new inspiration for how to apply Lean on their projects.

The blog hosts multiple conferences and has held 12 conferences in the last 4 years. The Lean Construction in the Field conference is designed to help people working on the construction site, including superintendents, project managers, project engineers, and field crews, learn Lean practices so that they can improve the efficiency, effectiveness, and safety of their projects. The theme of this year's conference is Takt planning, and focuses on how Takt planning is transforming field operations by bringing rhythm, flow, and predictability to construction projects.
