Edible Oceans

Daniel Pauly

▶ S01 E05 - Daniel Pauly

Edible Oceans by Tony Winson

This is the third in an accidental series, and the 5th episode of this podcast. For our third episode, we welcome OceanWise; the second featured Kurtis Hayne, Canada program director of the Marine Stewardship Council (MSC). We welcome world-renowned Prof. Daniel Pauly to our podcast. He presents a different view of eco-labelling and that contrasts with those presented by Mike McDermid and Kurtis Hayne - since that became a larger part of the podcast. He and Tony, it made sense to feature that contrasting view here, to give a scope of the diversity of thought on the subject. Prof. Pauly is the leader of the Sea Around Us Project at the Institute for Fisheries and Oceans at the University of British Columbia. He was the co-recipient of the Tyler Prize for Environmental Achievement. His groundbreaking work has informed policy for decades and he has written several books and hundreds of academic papers.
