REVITALIZING COMMUNITIES THROUGH AFFORDABLE HOUSING CONNECTED TO OPPORTUNITY

Enterprise Community Loan Fund (ECLF) offers investors the opportunity to support the creation of affordable housing and community revitalization in low-income communities in cities across the United States.

A study issued by Harvard’s Joint Center for Housing Studies found that nearly 25% of renters were spending more than half their income on rent each month, with little left over for other living expenses. Exacerbating an already insufficient supply of affordable housing is the fact that, over the past decade, more than 1.2 million affordable housing units have been lost to escalating rents, condominium conversions, abandonment and demolition. The result is that just 36 affordable and available homes exist for every 100 extremely low-income renter households. These low-income renters are statistically more likely to be seniors, disabled, and people of color. Due to the lack of affordable housing, low-income and extremely low-income households are forced to make impossible choices between shelter and food, healthcare, education, and other basic needs.

ECLF is raising up to $100MM of funding through their Impact Notes, which are private debt instruments with varying terms and interest rates. The funding will support ECLF’s mission to build wealth and prosperity among underserved communities by providing access to affordable housing and investing in community services.
