National Academy of Public Administration to Host

Conversation with OMB Deputy Assistant Director Dustin Brown

EOM Panel and Brown Will Discuss Biden PMA Vision and PMA Learning Agenda

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The National Academy of Public Administration’s Standing Panel on Executive Organization and Management (EOM) will host a January 28 conversation with Dustin Brown, Deputy Assistant Director for Management at the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), on the Biden Administration’s management blueprint.

In late 2021, the Biden Administration released its vision for a new President’s Management Agenda (PMA), the three pillars of which include:

- Strengthening and empowering the federal workforce
- Delivering excellent, equitable, and secure federal services and customer experience
- Managing the business of government to Build Back Better

Consistent with the Foundations for Evidence-Based Policymaking Act of 2018, the Administration released a draft Learning Agenda, comprised of the key research questions that are intended to drive evidence-building around the key challenges imbedded in the President’s Management Agenda. The public comment period for the Learning Agenda will close on January 31, 2022.

During the upcoming EOM Panel meeting, OMB Deputy Assistant Director for Management Dustin Brown will join Panel members in a discussion of the Biden PMA and the PMA Learning Agenda.

The Academy’s Standing Panel on EOM is the organization’s oldest and longest-serving standing panel. The Panel focuses on improving the structure, capacity, management and performance of public institutions.
