Shiloh Baptist Church

Shiloh Baptist Church was constituted in 1795, one mile from Penfield, and was first called Town's Creek Church.

During its early history the hardy settlers carried their guns to meetings to protect themselves from Indians, who held the country beyond the Oconee River.

A more substantial building was erected in 1807, and the name was changed to Shiloh. From this time a great period of prosperity set in.

The membership of the church totalled 400 at one time.

Shiloh has had many eminent Pastors and Laymen, Rev. B. F. Tharyse, T. W. Wood and others who were then students of ~~Macon~~ ^{more}, began their ministerial labors at Shiloh. Jack Lumpkin, B. W. Sanders, John Harris and N. M. Crawford have served as Pastors while such laymen as William Reed, Oliver Porter, James Culbrethson, William Moncrief and Thomas Stock, have stood in front ranks as Laymen.

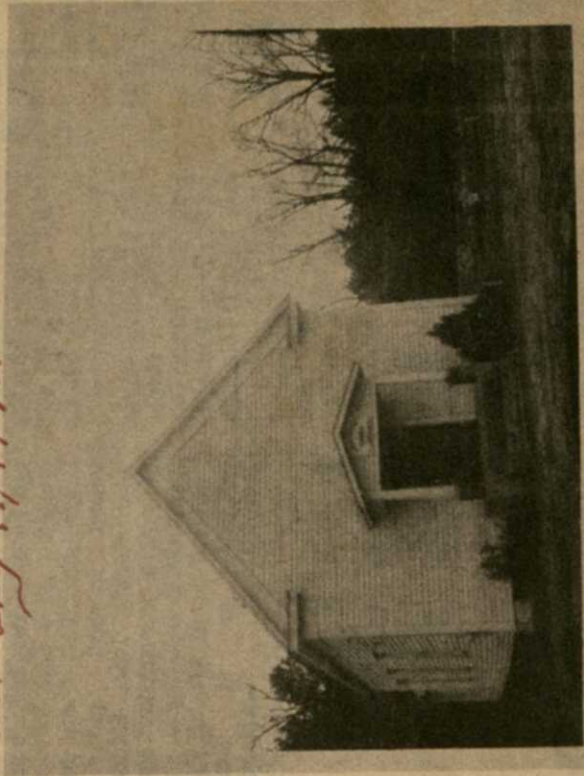

The first mission board report to the association in 1817, showed that Shiloh led in her gifts to missions at a total of $30.00.

In the 1850's the church was destroyed by a cyclone. An effort was made to get the Shiloh members to unite with Penfield and build a new Church there, however, the offer was rejected and Shiloh church was built where it now stands.

It, too, has functioned continuously and has had many noted Pastors, such as Rev. J. S. Callaway, Rev. O. P. Harris, Rev. J. H. Gambrell, Rev. J. H. Gullebean, Rev. Charles H. Kopp, Rev. H. F. Bell, Rev. W. R. Caloway, Rev. W. B. Haney and Rev. Owen S. Duvall, who came to Shiloh as a young man, and was nominated Pastor, September 25, 1938. Rev. Duvall stayed with Shiloh Church until his death Feb. 22, 1970.

The present pastor is Rev. David McClendon, of Greensboro. David was ordained at the Macedonia Baptist Church, May 17, 1970.
