

OUR DIGITAL LIFE

The Effect of Technology on Culture

The Hartman Group's "Digital Food Life" report finds that technology has given consumers a sense of ownership of the contents of their lives. Greater access to information on food ways and food traditions has enabled consumers to be active participants in the World of Food—and this is a reoccurring process.

Technology has...(among smartphone users)

