

Natural Sciences Department; Full Time Faculty in Exercise Science

Position Description: Candidates will be expected to teach undergraduate courses in the face- to-face environment. The candidate must be able to teach courses in the Exercise Science program, including Anatomy & Physiology, Exercise Physiology, Kinesiology, Nutrition, and related courses. Candidates will be expected to work closely with the Department Chair to build and grow the exercise science program, which is relatively new, and to build connections between the university and community. Student advising, chapel attendance, and participation in faculty/student collaboration opportunities, such as clubs and supervising internships, is also expected.

Minimum Requirements: A strong interest in undergraduate teaching is required. Candidates must have earned a master's degree in an exercise science-related field (kinesiology, exercise physiology, athletic training, physical therapy, or other comparable fields) and must have experience teaching at an undergraduate level. Ph.D. or doctorate in an exercise-related field (including DPT or DC) is strongly preferred. Relevant professional work experience is preferred. Support of the mission of Multnomah University and agreement with MU's doctrinal statement is required.

The successful candidate will:

- Provide excellent teaching to undergraduate students in a variety of delivery formats.
- Actively integrate the Christian faith in teaching.
- Have relevant work experience in exercise science to bring real-world experience into the classroom.
- Engage in service to the university and community.
- Actively build connections for students into the exercise science community

Institutional Information: Multnomah University includes undergraduate and graduate programs as well as Multnomah Biblical Seminary located in Portland, OR. All programs are coeducational and interdenominational. Founded in 1936, the college, graduate school, and seminary have established a renowned heritage of excellence in biblical education equipping Christian men and women to transform our culture and the world. The university offers B.A. and B.S. degrees in 19 majors as well as five university M.A. programs and one M.S. program. The seminary offers M.A., M.Div., and D.Min. degrees. Multnomah University is accredited with the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU). Multnomah Biblical Seminary is accredited with the Association of Theological Schools (ATS). In addition, Multnomah University is a member of the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCU).

Compensation: Compensation commensurate with education and experience. Compensation includes Full time benefits, including medical & dental options, vision, life, short term disability and long-term disability policies beginning the first day of the month following one month of employment.

Apply: Interested candidates should be prepared to attach a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy, a statement of science and faith integration, and a statement describing your personal Christian faith when applying online. Click here the online application \(Careers | Multnomah University\)

Contact: Sarah Gall, Ph.D.
Natural Sciences Department Chair
sgall@multnomah.edu
(503) 251.6431