The Note[illegible] secured by this Deed of Trust, at the option of the party of the third part, shall become and be due and payable forthwith if the party of the first part shall convey said premises or title thereto shall become vested in any other person or party in any manner whatsoever, unless the party of the third part shall in writing have expressly consented thereto.

The party of the first part shall have the privilege of prepaying the outstanding debt, in whole or in part, in advance upon first obtaining the consent of the party of the third part, and in such event the note hereby secured shall not be in default so long as the prepayment would reduce the balance due to an amount not greater than that due under the monthly installment schedule through the current monthly instalment. Provided, however, that this provision shall not apply where any part of the real estate above secured has been released from under this deed of trust in consideration for said advanced payment.

In case the party of the third part or the party of the second part, voluntarily or otherwise, shall become a party to any suit or legal proceeding to protect the property herein conveyed or to protect the lien of this deed of trust, the party of the second part and the party of the third part shall be saved harmless and shall be reimbursed by the parties of the first part for any amounts paid, including all reasonable costs, charges and attorney's fees incurred in any suit or proceeding, and the same shall be secured by this deed of trust and its payment enforced as if it were a part of the original debt. All interest, costs, expenses and advances required to be made to protect the security or to discharge a paramount lien on the property hereinbefore described shall be secured hereby without limitation in respect to the amount thereof and the amount so advanced shall become a debt due hereunder and shall bear interest at the rate specified in the note and the monies so advanced shall be secured by this deed of trust and this deed of trust secures all other covenants and agreements contained in this instrument or in the note hereinbefore referred to.
