

Early December 2021

I had 2 dreams that I remembered the next morning, and still do as of mid-January 2022.

In the first one, Hillary Clinton was biting my right hand. It was taking place in the present time. It was in color. I asked someone near me, possibly my wife Suzie, “Why is she doing this?” Hillary seemed to be behaving weirdly, something like a dog, by doing this. Eventually she got off of my hand, and I noticed a wound where she had been biting me. It wouldn’t stop bleeding, and I kept putting paper towels or whatever I had to try and stop the bleeding. When I looked at the blood, it was not a normal deep red color, but was pale and less colorful.

The next dream I had, which was the same night, I decided to cut part of my tongue out (because I just wanted to for some odd reason). I remember noticing that it was very white on the top, and was not bleeding at the place it was cut (part of the front of it). I tried to stick it out, and it wouldn’t come out as far, as you would expect if it was shorter. I remember thinking that I wanted to do this in the dream, but I don’t know why.
