

Lowliness of Mind

What is lowliness? ~tap-i-nor-ros~

This virtue, a fruit of the gospel exists when a person through most genuine, self evaluation, deems himself worthless. It involves evaluating ourselves as small because we are so. The humble person is not stressing his sinfulness, but his creatureliness of absolute dependence of possessing nothing and of receiving all things from God.

A person is kneeling in prayer, their back to the camera, against a warm, golden sunset background. The person's silhouette is dark against the bright light of the setting or rising sun. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.
