Winter Would Not Be Winter Without...

My winter non-negotiable is gajar ka halwa 🥕

Gajar ka halwa is deeply tied to family and winter traditions for me. It was always made at home during cold evenings, slowly cooked with patience and love, filling the house with a warmth that went beyond the weather. Watching it being prepared, waiting eagerly for the first bite, and enjoying it together after dinner are memories I still hold close. Even today, having gajar ka halwa feels like reliving those moments — a simple winter habit that brings comfort, nostalgia, and happiness every time 🧡

— Nikita Rawat

Sharing stories by the chulha and enjoying Khatta in the mountain sun.

It is a beautiful blend of all three. Sitting by the chulha is a sacred family tradition where we bond over 'gossip' and warmth, while making and sharing Himachali Khatta in the sun is a cherished memory I've carried since childhood. These aren't just habits; they are the moments where I feel most connected to my roots. Moving to the city has made me realize that while a drink can warm your hands, these mountain traditions are what truly warm the soul. I miss the peace and togetherness of home more than words can say.

ChaaH Da Cuppp ☕

No matter the season, a cup of tea always brings unmatched comfort.

— Tanya

Long talks with family in front of fireplace.

I urge this because I don't get enough time with the family.

— Rajat Chauhan

Chai, chai, chai and besan ki pinni!!

For me chai and pinni combo says sardi agayi hai!!

— Rohini Sood

Peace of mind. I don't have to stress about the AC failing; I can always just add another sweater and keep dreaming. ❄️

Winter survival kit

Without Saag and makki ki roti and gajar ka halwa

Because it is full of love and cooked slowly for hours in chulla.

— Shardha Rana

A full mug of hot chocolate on winter weekends, paired with a Harry Potter series marathon. 🍵❄️

It's just a simple winter habit I've had since childhood. I used to enjoy it with my brother, but now I enjoy it alone, away from home.

— Udita Sharma

Bonfire with My Buddies along with Hookah in my Village.

It's a family tradition. People in my village sit around a bonfire and make fun of each other. Somehow, this is our idea of fun, learning, and sharing information.

— Richit Sharma

Makki ki roti with methi (fenugreek)

Its a classic winter breakfast: nourishing and warming

— Parul Chopra

I would have to say Warm, Fuzzy Socks. Winter just doesn't feel right without them!

Because Cold Floors are the Enemy! ❄️👣 In the winter, stepping onto a cold tile floor in the morning feels like stepping on a block of ice. ❄️ Wearing Warm Fleece Socks is basically like giving your feet a warm hug all day long! Plus, it's the only time of year it's socially acceptable to wear socks with cartoons or Superheroes on them! 🦸🌟

— Aishwar Negi

Hot masala chai in the evenings.

It's a small ritual that instantly makes winter feel cozy. Growing up, evenings meant everyone gathering with a cup of chai, talking about the day while the temperature dropped outside. Even now, that first sip after a long day feels like a reset button — simple, comforting, and very much a winter essential for me.

— Nate Sharma

Chai

Can't imagine winters without chai because it's cheaper than therapy and faster than motivation.

— Selena Sharma

Christmas Carol Singing

Winter habit because all my winter memories are associated with Christmas, carol singing, home decoration and the plum cakes of course!!

— Anjeela Lawrance

Secret Santa at office

Well.... Big tym fun I'm almost over it. Almost! A tradition that adds mystery and keeps expectations in check. Winters are educational like that and feel incomplete without that annual plot twist.

— Nitin Sharma

A crackling bonfire, something sizzling on the grill, a sky flexing its full collection of stars and me out here breathing like a low-budget dragon with unlimited fog coming out of my mouth

Because once you've had a perfect bonfire night with good food and better company, you'll chase that feeling every winter. No shame.

— Nikhil Gaur

Socks in bed

Because my grandma and my mother knit socks for me, and every winter I wait to wear them. When I put them on, it feels like they're still wrapping me in their warmth. Every stitch holds their care, their patience, and their love. These aren't just socks — they're comfort, memories, and home woven into threads.

— Riha Lynn

WORK, More Work and lots of work

I love Work

— Vipul Katyal

Sheera

The aroma of Ghee in it and itni thandi mein garam garam chahe rajai mein khao chahe balcony mein it can beat rum.

— Sarah Kaur

Being at home in blanket and the foggy weather outside and waiting for Christmas celebration in school and then winter holidays to go to Nani's house and spending good time with cousins.

As winter arrives, it always reminds me of good old childhood days, which is today, followed by office hours and no joy, and only left with a glimpse of memories and just thinking...

"वो दिन भी क्या दिन थे"

— Nishit Dubey

Not one thing but, hot chocolate or coffee, warm n cozy blankets, piece of cake and Christmas movies

It's just my way of unwinding on a cozy winter evening over a weekend.

— Jasmine

31st December night

Because New Year's Eve brings a special winter energy ✨. A memorable moment was a DJ night on the 7th floor that went on for hours 🎵, while we stayed focused at work 📁 — a fun reminder that a little celebration can really lift winter spirits.

— Chaman Verma

Calendar, jo mujhe btaye garmi kab aari hai.

It is very difficult to survive winters.

— Jenny

Soup

Just a simple winter habit. LOL!

— Shivalik

Hot chocolate

Going to farmhouse for bonfire

— Divyanshi

For me, I can't imagine winters without hot chai or coffee

Because winter just feels incomplete without holding a warm cup, especially in the morning or late evening. It's a simple habit, but it brings instant comfort — whether you're working, chatting with family, or just sitting quietly. It's not even about the drink, it's about that cozy winter feeling it creates.

— Monica Kaur

Adrak wali Chai/Ginger Tea

Ginger Tea for me is not just a habit; it's a craving, an urge, even borderline addiction. And it's not just a winter requirement; I crave Tea in all seasons. ;)

— Varun Goswami

Sleeping as if there's no time limit

It started as "just five more minutes" and became a winter tradition.

— Sakshi Aneja

Morning sunlight

It helps maintain positivity and energy during shorter winter days.

Let's Talk About Venus, The Ruling Planet of Love

Venus represents love, attraction, romance, pleasure, beauty, and the way we give and receive affection. It is not just about who you love, but how you love.

How Venus Works in Astrology

Venus shows up in your birth chart as a specific zodiac sign, called your Venus sign. This sign explains your love language, your relationship style, and what you naturally seek in partnerships.

Two people can have the same Sun sign and still love in completely different ways, all because their Venus signs are different.

Venus Signs & Love Styles

- ♈ Venus in Aries: Loves fast, bold, and passionate.
- ♉ Venus in Taurus: Seeks loyalty, comfort, and physical affection.
- ♊ Venus in Gemini: Attracted to conversation, fun, and mental connection.
- ♋ Venus in Cancer: Loves emotionally and needs security.
- ♌ Venus in Leo: Seeks dramatic, fun, adoring relationships.
- ♍ Venus in Virgo: Shows love through care and effort.
- ♎ Venus in Libra: Romantic, partnership-oriented, harmony-seeking.
- ♏ Venus in Scorpio: Intense, deep, all-or-nothing love.
- ♐ Venus in Sagittarius: Values freedom, adventure, and honesty.
- ♑ Venus in Capricorn: Desires stable, secure, long-term love.
- ♒ Venus in Aquarius: Unconventional, friendship-based romance.
- ♓ Venus in Pisces: Dreamy, soulful, unconditional love.

Stan is the definition of growth mindset. Always thinking, always improving, always pushing boundaries—his goal is simple: improve, improve, improve. He consistently brings new ideas, looks for better ways to do things, and never settles for average. A top performer who stays at the top, Stan thrives on winning and motivating himself to be better every day. His consistency, competitive spirit, and drive to evolve make him a standout contributor to the team's success.

Kanav Mehta
Inside Sales Executive (L1) - Denefts

Kenny has been doing an amazing job, and this month, he truly shined. While his effort and consistency have always been strong, this month highlighted his dedication even more. His never-give-up attitude, positive mindset, and resilience are inspiring. Kenny consistently shows up with energy, creates a positive environment around him, and lifts the team through his actions and attitude. A dependable performer and a great teammate, Kenny embodies perseverance and positivity.

Sehaj Partap Singh Walia

Quality Auditor - Quality

A big shoutout to Sunny Singh for an outstanding transition from Customer & Business Support into the Quality Auditing role! Sunny has quickly emerged as a rising star, demonstrating strong ownership, sharp attention to detail, and an impressive ability to pick up new quality standards and auditing practices quickly. His willingness to learn, openness to feedback, and consistent focus on auditing every aspect carefully are already making a positive impact on the team. Congratulations, Sunny, keep up the great work.

Anthony Araujo

Sr. Inside Sales Executive (L2) - Benefits

Anthony has been one of our most consistent performers, month after month. Calm, focused, and detail-oriented, he approaches his work with a level of precision that truly sets him apart. A true perfectionist in the best way, Anthony ensures every task is done right. What stands out most is his dedication to continuous performance—he consistently enrolls businesses and delivers results without losing momentum. His commitment to learning, improving, and staying steady makes him a key pillar of the team. A reliable performer and a quiet achiever, Anthony leads by example.

Harkirat Singh

Sr. Motion Graphic Designer - Marketing

Harkirat brings a refined sense of finesse and thoughtfulness to his design work. His attention to detail and ability to translate ideas into strong visuals consistently raise the overall quality of our output.

Madhu Chauhan

Sr. SMM Executive - Marketing

Madhu brings consistency, ownership, and a strong sense of responsibility to her work. She is dependable, proactive, and ensures things keep moving smoothly, making her a steady and valuable presence on the team.

Manisha Jyoti

SMM Executive - Marketing

Manisha approaches her work with sincerity and perseverance. She takes initiative, follows through on tasks, and demonstrates a positive willingness to learn and grow, which is reflected strongly in her contributions.

Surbhi Sharma

Sr. Content Writer - Marketing

Surbhi finds a way to work around any task that's thrown at her. Her practical approach comes from truly understanding how things need to be done, not just theoretically, but by accounting for the reality of deadlines and dependencies, especially when things break mid-process.

Vishali Raj

Sr. Content Writer - Marketing

Vishali has this ability to take a brief and turn it into something that's both exactly what you asked for and also better than what was needed. She doesn't just check boxes; she builds them, and validates why they mattered in the first place. And she sees everything end to end to ensure there are no loose ends.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Hope all the good you've given the world finds its way back to you!
